- 2016 Producing and Directing: *Farms Lost and Found. Ongoing public engagement moving images project with Agrarian Trust, a national advocacy organization for young farmers, to collect, organize, document and catalog home movies picturing North American farming and agricultural practices (ca. 1925-1980), and to present compilations made from this material to contemporary audiences in a participatory context, crucially focusing on young and emerging farmers. This project aims to bridge generational and historical divides, to encourage discussion of the relationship between traditional and current farming methods and to entertain. Premiered (as ongoing work in progress) at OUR LAND 2: Tracing the Acequia Commons Symposium, Santa Fe, New Mexico. (Nov 17 2016) INVITED

- 2016 Directing: "All-Is-Well" (14 min., HD video) Short archival film on ordinary adventures and ephemeral gestures as small pleasures and acts of survival. Commissioned by San Francisco Museum of Modern Art for Open Space. "All-Is-Well" collects ordinary adventures remembered only because they survive in home movies. Against a backdrop of distant news events, kids stampede for Easter eggs; horses run together; families read pulps and shoot craps; cooks fry; tin-can tourists work hard at leisure; people pose, clown and drink, pull back the husks of sweet corn. For them and for us, remaking the ephemeral gesture is both a small pleasure and an act of survival."

Other Creative Activities

- 2004 - Present Social Practice: Library: Ongoing: Prelinger Library (co-founder and collaborator with Megan Shaw Prelinger). Appropriation-friendly library containing a private collection of approximately 80,000 books, periodical volumes, government documents, maps, paper ephemera and visual material, located at 301 8th Street in San Francisco's South of Market area. A long-term social practice project, the library functions as a critique of institutional librarianship, traditional information organization as obfuscation and cultural enclosure. At the same time, it provides broad public access to this collection in order that artists, activists, students, researchers and other interested parties can enjoy the freedom to browse, copy, and experience serendipitous insights from a wealth of twentieth-century documentation not easily available to most uncredentialed individuals. Opened in June 2004, the library has hosted over 12,000 visitors through June 2019. Staffed both by its founders and by a small group of trained volunteers, the library is open to the public ten to twelve days a month. It has become a venue for social reading, a place of discussion and collaboration and an incubator for artistic and social projects, including most recently The New Farmers Almanac (first and second editions, 2013 and 2015). An active digitization project continues and currently totals over 3,800 items. Prelinger Library is a member of the Intersection Incubator, a program of Intersection for the Arts providing fiscal sponsorship, incubation and consulting to artists. The Library currently maintains an active artist-in-residence program. Recent residencies include: Pierre Leguillon (Paris); Felicity Taylor (Montréal); Christopher Carley (Brooklyn); Lindsey Dupler (San Francisco); Lucy Quinn (Australia); Louisa Penfold (Australia); Carolee Gilligan Wheeler and the Elsewhere Philatelic Society; Charles Macquarie and the Library of Approximate Location; Place Talks (curators: Nicole Lavelle & Charles Macquarie); Sylvia Herbold (Duke University, MFA in Experimental and Documentary Arts program); Sherrie Wasserman (New York); Marshall Trammell (Black Spirituals and Music Research Strategies); Dustin Mabry (Davis, Calif.); Sara Lauren Smith (Northampton, Mass.); Marie Martraire (San Francisco and Paris); Monica Westin (San Francisco); Tamara Suarez Porras (New York and San Francisco); Peter Lucas (London); Jeremy Ferris (Providence); Nishant Batsha (Berkeley); Kendell Harbin and Asa Wilder (Roaming Center for Magnetic Alternatives, Kansas City); Renny Pritikin (San Francisco); Lacey Johnson (Oakland); and KLOOG (Charles Kremenak, Thom Blum) with Janet Silk.
