

ARISIA 2011

Jan 14 to 17

Cambridge, MA

Arisia is the last science fiction convention in the United States still running 35mm film. This year we have a selection of features and short subjects both old and new, including a surprise silent film screening.

Unlike a commercial convention, Arisia is all fan run. No one is being paid, including the professional writers and artists. People are involved for the same reason you're interested: they love science fiction.
