

Ne problemo!

See, you already speak some Esperanto!

Learning a new language is a lot of work: new grammar, new vocabulary, new exceptions. But Esperanto? Ne problemo! The grammar is streamlined — no irregular verbs, no complicated conjugations. And it's completely phonetic — one letter, one sound. The result? You can become fluent — actually able to speak and read Esperanto — four times faster than you could with most national languages.

But... does anyone actually speak Esperanto? Ne problemo! About two million people already speak it, some in almost every country in the world. It doesn't belong to any single country or culture, so it's acceptable everywhere. You can connect with other Esperanto speakers in person, through the Internet, or at national and international conventions, speaking as equals. It even sounds good, similar to Italian or Spanish — so people have written a lot of original literature and poetry in Esperanto.

Just try it and you'll say, Ne problemo!

Esperanto — the international language that works!
